

The Third Baltic Archaeological Seminar (BASE-3): Introduction ( Andris Šnē )	7
Valter Lang
Archaeology and Its Wastebasket: Remembering, Forgetting, and Recycling in Archaeological Research	11
Andris Šnē
Society, Identity, and Memory: Memories of the Past in the Archaeological Remains	17
Mika Lavento
Deconstructing Memories in Archaeology: Burial Cairns as Signs of Memories	29
Heidi Luik
Skill, Knowledge, and Memory: How to Make a Bone Awl Properly?	45
Algimantas Merkevičius
Material Culture and Social Memory in the East Baltic Societies during the Bronze Age and the Pre-Roman Iron Age	59
Anna Wessman
Reclaiming the Past: Using Old Artefacts as a Means of Remembering	71
Andrejs Vasks
Burials on Settlement Sites: Memories of Ancestors or Dissociation?	89
Andra Simniškytė
Memory and Identity: Genuine or Fake? Once More on the Question of the "Selonian" Culture	99
Sami Raninen
Martial Themes of the Iron Age: the Constitution of a Warrior	111
Risto Nurmi
(The) Memory Remains: the Immaterial Remnants of the Toll Fence in Tornio Town	121